Roeding's Quality

ROSES

are grown on
HARDY MULTIFLORA ROOTSTOCK
and are well cured

Again we are able to furnish a limited supply of Roeding's quality field grown roses at wholesale. Your close inspection of these outstanding plants is invited. You will find that they exhibit characteristics that are very desirable in a rose, notably:

- . . . well developed root systems
- . . . good form
- . . . strong canes
- . . . resistance to disease and extremes of temperature
- . . . exceptional vigor

These result from our time-tested cultural practices and the highly favorable conditions for rose growing that exist at Niles, California.

Roses will be ready for delivery after December 15, 1959.

Roeding's Quality 3-YEAR OLD TREE ROSES

BALLED PLANTS

Bare Root for Distance Shipments

These tree roses have long set the standard for excellence in California. They are husky 3-year-olds (from the root). Rootstock is Thornless Multiflora japonica, the stem is IXL, and they are dormant budded roses — so they are not "forced" as with Spring budded roses. All are balled plants, providing good protection to the roots, and making care in the nursery easier in all seasons, except for distance shipments in which they are bare rooted. Roeding's Quality Tree Roses are noteworthy for straight strong trunks, uniformly shaped bushy heads, and a high yield of blooms.
